E2E Consulting and Clients Apollo Group and Tucson Electric Power Company Win Oracle Excellence Award

E2E Consulting is proud to announce that they have been chosen as winners of the Oracle Excellence Award along with their two clients, Apollo Group (University of Phoenix) and Tucson Electric Power Company. Apollo Group had the distinction of being selected as one of the Top 5 winners. The awards were based on the creative and innovative processes employed in the solutions provided by E2E Consulting.

The Oracle Excellence Award honors companies who creatively use Oracle Fusion Middleware with Oracle Applications to offer unique business value. The Oracle selection committee included individuals from QUEST, OAUG and Oracle, who selected the most innovative and creative solutions in the industry. E2E Consulting helped Apollo Group automate their financial aid process utilizing a cutting-edge Oracle SOA solution, which delivered maximum return on investment. For Tucson Electric Power Company, E2E Consulting integrated their STORMS work management system with Oracle E-Business Suite in order to achieve near real-time sharing of work requests to make their internal processes more efficient.

“The caliber of the nominees was quite remarkable and demonstrates the success organizations are having as a result of their use of Oracle Applications with Oracle Fusion Middleware,” said Thomas Kurian, Senior Vice President, Oracle Server Technologies. “We are pleased to recognize the recipients for their success in driving business value with their IT investments and also want to congratulate all of the Oracle partners who have helped our customers with these successful implementations.”

“We are extremely excited and honored to receive these awards,” said Larry Fraize, President of E2E Consulting. “A multitude of nominations were submitted to Oracle from around the world. Having two of our client projects recognized in the Top 30 along with the likes of Merrill Lynch, Logitech, Pepsi Bottling Group and Qualcomm helps solidify our position in the market as a leading System Integrator for Oracle Fusion Middleware.”
